

CURRICULUM VITAE

Leonidas Thomopoulos studied Sound Engineering and works on Live Events Sector for more than 15 years. During those years he participated both in Cultural Events and European programs and Exhibitions.

He continued his studies, through Seminars regarding Communicating Skills and Methods, Personal Computers and use/Certification of Technical Equipment.

During the recent years he has moved in Heraklion – Crete, where he continues his way in the industry, Supporting Technical Facilities in Conference, Exhibition and Cultural venues.

He deals with Technical venue studies, exhibitions and corporate meetings addressed at large audience and advises groups active in Tourism and Culture.

At the same time, he evolves, attending seminars on Marketing, Psychology at Work, New Technologies, Social Media and Web Design in multiple platforms, in order to produce events more evenly.

He has participated in organizational, design, consulting and technical level, in various events, from the International Immigration Forum and the European program "Digital Municipality", up to the Greek Presidency of 2014, and has a long experience in exhibitions in major Greek facilities, such as HELEXPO (TIF), the Metropolitan Exhibition Center (support for International exhibitions for over 7 years) and the Benaki Museum (exhibitions and events for Visual and Performing Artists such as Marina Abramovic).

